

NICK KOSTOVIC - BIOLOGICAL ELECTRICITY

There is an increasing and serious need for effective and safe healing of about one hundred fifty different types of cancer. Today, we are still unable to find the causes that affect the break down of the cells, but since 1998 (three years in Europe and the last seven years in the US), we have been able to treat, prevent, and even heal it by a new and unique method of wireless released biological electricity, utilized through invented equipment called the Kostovic - Biotechnological energizer, BTE.

The BTE equipment generates a wireless transfer of the biological electric energy through two energetic fields. This energy is controlled from gradual low to high voltage charges from the basic electric energy source. The BTE - Biotechnological Energizer - uses ice as a passive source of energy, and as a result the BTE slows down the current of electron particles and transfers these electrons into the two fields of energy. The transfer of biological electricity in the first field of energy - where the patient sits with a hand on the unit - is carried out by biological agents, "values of different energetic conductors." The second field of energy is on the floor and is a much stronger force than is experienced in every day life. It enables the therapist to become the conductor of biological electric energy. This means that the therapist stands in a second energetic field, accumulates energy, than converts it into biological electricity. The patient experiences the first energy field through his hands, while the second field of energy is released by the therapist who holds in his hands a biological or mineral agent "values of different energetic conductors."

Although the fields of the therapist and patient are both utilized, the patient alone cannot create biological electricity. The process of transfer begins the moment the therapist enters the second energy field and becomes the conductor of biological electricity. The therapist releases and transfers the produced biological electricity by touching the patient, thus enabling the patient to obtain energy from his own field (the first energy field). As a result, the currents of the two directions of biological electricity are being acquired by attracting each other from opposite fields. This also means that the current of biological electricity is attracted from opposite directions and fuses them with cells to any part of the organism. The cells are stimulated and nourished with new elementary biochemical links and energy. Simultaneously, the two separate energies are being fused in the form of biological electricity which coalesces with the weakened cells of the sick organism, restoring them to their natural vitality. Also in this process, the biological electricity in the form of elementary needles of energetic acupuncture or elementary beams of biological electricity penetrates into the patient's diseased tissues. Thus, biological electricity destroys the causes of neurological diseases and cancers, without any side effect.

Years of research have led me to conclude that different energetic fields interact differently with elementary biochemical energy charges from nature. Furthermore, depending of the strength of the nervous system, each person will attract weak or strong elementary biochemical energy charges from nature. I have proven, filmed, and described the liberation of these complex elementary cells of biochemical energies and their conductivity through human body hair. Hair is the main conductor and an extension of the central nervous system. Hairs transfer these basic elementary energy charges into the central nervous system. This is described in my book, Universe God's Jewels, published on November, 2001 in Zagreb, Croatia, and on May, 2008 in Denver, Colorado.

The new invented Biotechnological Energizer System correlates to the energetic fields that already exist in nature, but in more effective form. The mineral granite fields surrounded by ice, caused by low temperatures in nature, radiate strong elementary energy. The irradiated elementary energy from mineral fields interacts with complex elementary biochemical energy charges from the sun's rays. It is well known that these fields exist in the far regions of Earth. For example, some of these extraordinary energy fields are found on the slopes of the Himalayas. These areas attract extremely powerful, complex, and rich sun's ray elementary biochemical energy charges from nature and can contribute to a longer lasting and healthier life. For this reason, some people in these areas live extended lives, up to one hundred years or more, and are not prone to most degenerative diseases.

For the past thirty years, I have conducted research on the effects of neurological disorders and different types of cancer on human beings, and spent the last fifteen years working on several projects in connection with new bioenergetic physical therapy. The purpose of the therapy was to discover how to stimulate and eventually heal the central nervous system by awakening the billions of passive brain nerve cells and strengthening the active brain nerve cells. The results of these experiences have led me to construct this BTE equipment, which enables the therapist to create and transmit energy in the form of biological electricity into the patient via the body of the therapist. In this fashion, the therapist becomes the instrument that conducts, acquires, and transfers energy in the form of biological electricity. For information's sake, all of the transferred energies in the form of biological electricity are controlled from weak charges graduating to very strong charges.

The biological energy, a form of biological electricity that transpires through the body of the therapist, is completely healthy. Biological electricity is further transferred and so it penetrates in the organism of the patient to the particular spot in the brain or any other affected organ. This is a process of regeneration by energetic biochemical links where stimulated and nourished cells of the central nervous system and all other physical organs are strengthened, restored, rebuilt, and invigorated, returning them to their natural vitality. Thus, the created biological electricity is channeled from the therapist's fingers to the patient by means of biological and mineral agents, objects, the therapist holds in his hands. The biological and mineral agents are referred to as "values of different energetic conductors." Through the fingers of the therapist (who massages the patient), the biological electric energy is released from the biological and mineral agents" values of different energetic conductors, "so it is transferred into the patient's physical organs. The biological electricity is converted either into the form of different energetic vibrations, elementary needles of the energetic acupuncture, or elementary beams of biological electricity.

The human body hair and skin are especially powerful energetic conductors. It is able to transfer elementary needles of energetic acupuncture, a form of the biological electricity, by penetrating deep into the diseased tissue of the patient. Elementary needles of energetic acupuncture have a tremendous destructive power, specifically eliminating the different causes of neurological disorders and cancers, without any side effect. In this fashion, we have proved that human body hairs and skin are energetic channels, able to attract and release biological electricity in the form of elementary needles of energetic acupuncture. Through this process of destroying the causes of various neurological disorders and cancers it is possible to determine their sources and precisely strike them by help of the elementary needles of energetic acupuncture. The elementary needles of energetic acupuncture penetrate deep into the specific area of the central nervous system, revealing the damaged areas. The painful and damaged areas are the source of disorders and now can be effectively treated. Thus, the patient and the therapist are able to detect the pain on the particular area and reveal the source and the origination of illness. It is also important to note that a healing process of the immune system is taking place. The central nervous system is being invigorated; the cells are stimulated by energy and nourished by new energetic biochemical links, reverted to their normal neuron function. Gradually, new neurons that are responsible for the function of motor neurons will proliferate. Motor neurons control memory, intelligence, body movements, mobility control, speech, etc.

Human body hairs are also able to attract biochemical charges from their elementary form in nature, transferring the energy directly into the central nervous system by the form of different energetic vibrations. Through human body hairs these attracted elementary biochemical charges transfer and lead a complex, gossamer energy. They synthesize with the active brain nerve cells, and for the first time, they make a fusion in the passive brain nerve cells. The fusion stimulates, nourishes, strengthens, and invigorates the active and passive brain nerve cells. The passive brain nerve cells are converted into new active brain nerve cells. As a result, the vast amounts of recently energized passive nerve cells replace dead inactive brain nerve cells in the damaged zones that have already experienced neuron loss and impairment of neuron function. The therapist massages the head, releasing the biological electricity into a powerful form of different energetic vibration through human body hairs. This is a powerful process in which very bright white spots (either small or big) consisting of fractions of two concentric cycles spin round and round very fast throughout the brain. These attracted biochemical charges in the elementary form are transferred through human body hairs to revitalize substantia nigra. Thus, the substantia nigra is stimulated to release new biochemical links nourishing active brain nerve cells. This highly complex yet gossamer energy of elementary biochemical charges is then transformed into a form of elaborate biochemical links.

These energies are found in nature where they are liberated from the complex structure of the elementary energy fields of sun's ray. The sun's ray complex structure contains an elementary nucleus surrounded by two elementary energetic fields in the form of concentric circles. The therapist releases the biological electricity in the form of a different energetic vibration and transfers it by pressing his fingers on the hairs and forehead of the patient. Through this pressure, the therapist invokes a complex elementary energetic field, visible to the patient with open eyes. The slightest elementary biochemical energy charges are directly transferred through the hairs and head to the patient's brain. The healing process of brain nerve cells gradually becomes visible for the patient in a special way by attracting elementary biochemical energy charges. The patient sees with closed eyes fine circles of many colors (white, black, blue, green, red, rose, yellow, turquoise, purple, orange, gold) as they undertake elementary biochemical processes in the brain. Thus, the fusion of the newly created elementary biochemical charges awakens the billions of the passive brain nerve cells, converting them into new active brain nerve cells. In their dormant form, these passive brain nerve cells are resistant and indestructible by every kind of neurological illnesses. The passive brain nerve cells are slight, very sensitive, and contain faint energy charges that can be stimulated by attracting to them the finest elementary biochemical energy charges through the form of different energetic vibration. As dormant brain nerve cells become new active brain nerve cells, the brain successfully combats the causes of the most neurological disorders and cancers. Simultaneously, the active brain nerve cells are being strengthened and invigorated and combine with new active brain nerve cells (the former passive brain nerve cells) to create improvement of neuron function and increase of neurons. The mobility and lost movements in areas of the arms, legs, spine, etc., reacquire their normal function, and speech is recovered. In other words, the body lives again because lost neurons have been replaced.

New bioenergetic physical therapy since 1998 with BTE equipment (three years in Europe and seven years in the USA) has made considerable improvements on hundreds of patients suffering from different neurological disorders and cancers.

In cases of striking different brain tumors by elementary beams of biological electricity, the areas under lesions and formations were reduced or completely eliminated without harm to healthy brain nerve cells. The biological electricity releases sheaves of elementary beams of biological electricity through the biological and mineral agents as gold and pyrite-Fe₂. The released sheaves of elementary beams of biological electricity convert virgin olive oil and natural acids (as liquid "values of different energetic conductors") in energetic form. The virgin olive oil contains natural acids such as oleic and leno oleic, antioxidants, unsaturated fats, and polyphenol, all very important in the protection of healthy cells from destructive free radicals. Through biological electricity these ingredients from virgin olive oil are converted into an energetic form of enriched elementary beams of biological electricity. Enriched elementary beams of biological electricity penetrate deep into the brain or any other physical organ, destroying lesions and shrinking or completely eliminating tumor mass effects, without any side effects. The enriched elementary beams of biological electricity are able to successfully destroy damaged and toxic proteins into the cells, attack and eradicate most types of cancer while simultaneously strengthening healthy cells.

In the case of malignant hemangiopericytoma, there were multiple lesions throughout the brain. One tumor was located in the occipital region; two tumors were in the right frontal region; another was in the left parasagittal motor area. A new tumor showed in the apex of the parietal region, and a third new tumor was situated in the left frontal area. Due to the multiplicity of lesions, the only option was the possibility of whole brain radioactive radiation therapy.

The first energetic cycle, consisted of fifty-eight sessions and a second energetic cycle was thirty-five additional sessions. In the first energetic cycle of fifty-eight sessions, the biological electricity was transferred in the form of elementary beams of biological electricity through biological and mineral agents, penetrated deep into the brain. Released energy in the form of elementary beams of biological electricity converted natural acids (oleic and lino oleic acids), antioxidants, unsaturated fats, and polyphenol from virgin olive oil into a new elementary energetic form. Thus enriched elementary beams of biological electricity tremendously increased the elementary energetic values from virgin olive oil. These elementary energetic values penetrated deep into the brain, starting to combat and destroy the multiple lesions. Three mass tumors were shrunk, and three new tumors of mass formations were destroyed and dispersed, without any side effect. The final cycle of thirty-five sessions with the BTE equipment was continued with the same process of using transferred elementary beams of biological electricity through biological agents. These additional treatments were done for preventive purpose and to strengthen the brain. The brain recovered without harming any healthy cells.

The next case was an example that showed a pituitary gland was enlarged with bilobed 1.7 cm tumor mass abutting the optic chiasm, consistent with a macro adenoma. It caused an increase of prolactin to 49.4 NG/ML and TSH to 487mU/L. Therapy was performed with Biotechnological Energizer equipment with the first cycle being twenty-five sessions. The biological electricity was transferred in the form of elementary beams of biological electricity through biological and mineral agents, gold and pyrite, penetrating deep into the mid brain.

In the first cycle of twenty-five sessions, sheaves of the enriched elementary beams of biological electricity started to powerfully destroy the lesion of the pituitary gland, without harming any healthy cells and without side effects. After the first energetic cycle of twenty-five sessions, prolactin was coming down to the level of 10.17 NG/ML and TSH was coming down to the 19.61 UIU/ml. In the second cycle of twenty-six sessions, the lesion was struck with the same technique. Through this exclusive therapy, the extension of the lesion and tumor mass that was affecting the optic chiasm were eliminated. As a result, the brain blood stream was normalized, vision improved, the patient's headache subsided, and her lost menstrual cycle was normalized. The size of 1.7 cm (17mm) bilobed pituitary lesion shrunk to a dimension of significance 10.5 mm. Prolactin 13.7 NG/ML, and finally TSH decreased to the appropriate level of 2.65

Mu/L. The brain completely recovered, and cured, and it was accomplished with no possibility of reversing or spreading malignant brain tumor, and without any side effects.

In the case of a large kidney tumor, mass revealed in the left upper abdomen from the left renal superior and the mid zone, the large left renal mass, which was predominantly cystic or necrotic in its central portion of increased attenuation value, represented a necrotic tumor arising from the kidney.

The new bio-energetic physical therapy was performed in the energetic cycle of sixty sessions. The sheaves of elementary beams of biological electricity channeled this energy into the left renal vein area and the mid zone. The growth of the left renal mass was destroyed with no evidence of tumor infiltration or thrombosis and with no further evidence of a metastatic intra abdominal lesion. The pain from the large abdominal left renal mass completely vanished and healing was successfully done, without any side effects.

In the next case, a planocelulare larynges cancer was progressing. The evaluation revealed an affected mass of 3.5 cm. The BTE equipment was used in the energetic cycle of 125 sessions, striking the tumor mass by elementary beams of biological electricity, simultaneously from both sides of the throat. The mass was reduced. The sheaves of enriched elementary beams of biological electricity were striking the cancer mass, penetrating deep into the throat. The malignant cells were effectively destroyed and the possibility of the multiplication of these cells was eliminated. This malignant tumor of 3.5 cm mass was ultimately destroyed, without any side effects.

In the case of one type of lung cancer, a metastasized mass evaluated at 3.8 cm was noticed on the right side. The permanent striking of the tumor with BTE was done in an energetic cycle of 140 sessions, shrinking the mass and eradicating the possibility of further growth. The affected areas of lung were struck through the chest and back. Multiply sheaves of enriched elementary beams of biological electricity were administered through biological and mineral agents (gold and pyrite), effectively penetrating and burning the metastasis and the tumor mass. The sheaves of elementary beams of biological electricity tremendously increased the elementary energetic values from virgin olive oil (natural acids-oleic and leno oleic acids, antioxidants, unsaturated fats, and polyphenol). These “burned malignant cells” and tumor mass were effectively destroyed with no possibility of multiplying, spreading or regenerating.

In the next case, a multiple hepatic lesions were visualized (most of them were 1-2 cm range of size). The largest one was in the head of the pancreas, and measured almost 5 cm. This one was highly suspicious for pancreatic carcinoma. There was extensive metastatic disease in the liver. In the cycle of seventy-two sessions, the sheaves of enriched elementary beams of biological electricity, simultaneously from the front and the back, were striking the lesions, penetrating deep into a tissue of the pancreas and the liver. The enriched elementary beams of biological electricity successfully destroyed damaged and toxic proteins into the cells, attacked and eradicated the metastatic disease in the liver and pancreas, while simultaneously strengthened healthy cells. The largest lesion was shrunk more than 1 cm, as well as those smaller lesions, and some of them completely vanished. The pancreas was restored and invigorated. The metastatic disease in the liver vanished, with no possibility of multiplying and with no any side effect. The blood stream was normalized, and human life rescued.

The next case was an example that a lump 1.5 cm in the breast was arisen. The therapy by elementary beams of biological electricity was performed in energetic cycle of sixty five sessions. A lump was effectively destroyed and vanished due to “burned malignant cells“. The possibility of the growth and multiplying was eliminated, with no any side effect.

In the case of prostate cancer where a cancer cells begun to multiply and spread, the therapy by elementary needles of energetic acupuncture was performed, in the cycle of seventy-four sessions. The elementary energetic values from virgin olive oil combated and destroyed the cancer cells without harming healthy cells. Prostate was cured by this new energetic physical therapy without any side effects. It was accomplished with no possibility of reversing, spreading, due to the malignant cells were effectively destroyed and “burned“.

The elementary needles of energetic acupuncture and elementary beams of biological electricity penetrate deep into the particular spot of the central nervous system or any other physical organ, “burning off” the accumulated and over compressed sick piles of damaged and toxic proteins, with no side effects, leaving room for new, healthy cells. Additionally new, healthy cells are stimulated and nourished by an energetic form of elementary biochemical links. The cleaning by “burning off” of accumulated sick and harmful piles of central nervous system or any other physical organ in the human body is one of the most important conditions in the healing process of different types of cancers, as well as neurological disorders.

The Center has further continued research and development of the transfer of the different elementary energy values from nature through hairs and skin, directly into the rudiment of DNA molecular cells of the central nervous system. BTE is new invention capable of attracting these elementary biochemical charges of electron neutrinos through hairs (the hairs are the offshoot of central nervous system). Due to the stimulation of pineal gland in the brain, this process is visible with the closed eyes to anyone undergoing treatment with BTE equipment. Thus released electron neutrinos from the elementary energy field of sun’s ray become visible (with closed eyes) in splendid colors. These splendid colors are created from dust particles, sparkling in the form of circles and spiral layers.

The durability of rudiment DNA molecular genetic cells is directly dependent on these attracted new elementary biochemical charges of electron neutrinos. New elementary biochemical charges of electron neutrinos are capable of rebuilding the whole elementary structure of DNA cells into the central nervous system. Enzyme proteins are enriched with electron neutrinos and unmistakably attracted to the damaged points in whole DNA cells of the central nervous system. The rudiment of DNA molecular genetic cells is built of three groups of tau neutrinos: specifically elemental, neutral, and non-elemental. The non-elemental form of tau neutrinos carries indestructible genetic and life codes. The elementary biochemical charges of electron neutrinos interact with elemental and neutral form of tau neutrinos. The elemental structure of tau neutrinos will be strengthened through attracted elementary biochemical charges of electron neutrinos. The neutral form of tau neutrinos will be enriched and will grow up in new energetic form-an elemental form of tau neutrinos. The new energetic biochemical form of elemental tau neutrinos is capable of recovering damages in rudiment DNA molecular genetic cells. The biochemical charges of electron neutrinos affect and stimulate DNA cells that are capable of slowing down the aging process.

The conditions for long-lasting life exist in nature. For example, it occurs with the olive tree, Indian banyan tree, and eucalyptus (some of these trees live more than thousand years), capable of attracting the electro neutrinos by natural means. In animal life, it occurs with a rare kind of giant turtles (recently one died at age 260 years). These animals are also capable of attracting elementary biochemical charges of electro neutrinos by natural means.

It is important to point out that BTE equipment generates a wireless transfer of the biological electric energy through two energetic fields. The therapist creates and transmits energy in the form of biological electricity into the patient via the body of the therapist. The human body hairs and skin are powerful energetic conductors able to transfer elementary needles of energetic acupuncture-a form of biological electricity, penetrating deep into the diseased tissues of the patient. The elementary needles of energetic acupuncture have a tremendous destructive power, specifically eliminating the causes of different types of cancers, as well as neurological disorders, without any side effects. They penetrate deep into the specific area of the central nervous system, or any other physical organ into the body, revealing the damaged areas. The painful and damaged areas are the source of disorders and now can be effectively treated.

Human body hairs (the hairs are the offshoot of the central nervous system) are also able to attract biochemical charges from their elementary form in nature. It is well known that the sun produces and releases elementary biochemical charges of electron neutrinos. The extraordinary fields on the Earth interact with complex and rich sun's ray elementary biochemical charges of electron neutrinos. BTE creates a powerful energetic field that is capable of preventing dispersion of electron neutrinos, even more effectively than extraordinary fields on the Earth. The hairs transfer attracted biochemical charges directly into the central nervous system in the form of energetic vibration. Through human body hairs these attracted elementary biochemical charges transfer and lead a complex, gossamer energy. They synthesize with the active brain nerve cells, and they make a fusion in the passive brain nerve cells. The fusion stimulates, nourishes, strengthens, and invigorates the active and passive brain nerve cells. The passive brain nerve cells are awakened and converted into new, active brain nerve cells. As a result, the vast amount of recently energized passive brain nerve cells replace dead active brain nerve cells in the damaged zones that have already experienced neuron loss and impairment of neuron function.

Since 1998, this method has been successfully performed on more than hundred types of cancer and neurological disorders. Most life-threatening cancers, including brain, throat, breast, liver, pancreatic, kidney, adenocarcinoma prostate, colon, and some others were successfully treated. In the most cases, it was completed without the possibility of the cancer reversing or spreading, without any side effects, and with no harm to healthy cells. The immune system was revitalized and strengthened.

According to official statistics, every day more than fifteen hundred people die from different types of cancer in the US. This new energetic physical therapy with biological electricity is capable to rescue one thousand lives daily, at least, with no harm to healthy cells. This new bioenergetic physical therapy will be available to each person. The technique will essentially contribute to heal millions people, make possible to slow down aging, as well as to raise the possibility for human life to span up to a hundred years or more. Kostovic-Biotechnological Energizer produces biological electricity, the energy that is also able to prevent erosion and decline of bones and cartilage, as well as rebuilt bone and cartilage tissue, restore muscles from atrophy, and repair any internal organ.

This new bioenergetic therapy can be tested in Beverly Hills, California, at my Biotechnological Health Center. The equipment can be produced by the hundreds of thousands and can be placed in hospitals, rehabilitation centers, medical buildings, doctor's offices and others in the US and all over the world. The Center can provide training for therapists.

For the last thirty years, the basic idea for research was regeneration, renewal, and rebuilding the active brain nerve cells and awakening the passive brain nerve cells by elementary biochemical links, as well as striking the different types of cancer and sources of neurological disorders by biological electricity.

The theory of these processes is described and explained in my book Universe God's Jewel. Many pieces of evidence that exist in nature were observed and recorded. As a result of years of research, I have invented the Kostovic - Biotechnological Energizer - BTE.
